City to lose TIF revenue

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

With a single stroke of Gov. Jim Edgar's pen, Granite City lost more than a quarter-million dollars in anticipated revenue last week. But the city is moving ahead anyway with development plans that were to be funded by that revenue.

Edgar

Edgar's initial budget called for the state to keep all of the $18 million in state sales taxes earmarked for distribution to tax increment finance (TIF) districts. The General Assembly passed a budget which would have allocated about two-thirds of full-funding — $12 million — to TIF districts, but Edgar used his line-item veto Thursday, cutting the $12 million to zero.

Under the TIF funding formula established by statute, Granite City would have received about $126,000 in a state sales tax increment next year. Economic Development Director Alan Orbals said. Under the Legislature's proposal, Granite City would still have received about $56,000, he said.

But the city ended up with nothing, Orbals said the city should still have enough TIF revenue for debt service on more than $1.5 million in TIF bonds issued last year. The 1992-93 bond payment is $238,000. The bonds are a general obligation, meaning that if TIF revenue falls short, the city must make payments from its General Fund.

The city is still counting on the receipt of about $150,000 in TIF property taxes and $21,000 in local TIF sales taxes next year, and about $250,000 from the sale of TIF property to a developer.

When that amount is added to another $490,130 already in the city's TIF account, the city is in no immediate danger of missing a bond payment, Orbals said.

But Orbals expects further ramifications from the governor's cut.

"I would expect either a bunch of lawsuits (against the state), or one lawsuit which all affected cities will join in," Orbals said.

He said one such lawsuit has already been filed, and is now pending in the judicial system.

Meanwhile, the city is moving ahead on a TIF-funded development project in the downtown block bounded by Madison and Grand avenues and 20th and 21st (See TIF, Page 2A)

Hawkins named town clerk

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Nameoki Township has a new town clerk. Helen Hawkins, of the 2600 block of Angela Drive, was elected to fill the vacancy created when Norman Hall resigned the position and moved from the township.

Hawkins was elected by the trustees over Judy Merritt, of Iris Avenue, in a 3-2 vote Monday night. Township Supervisor Lee Ridgeway cast the tie-breaking vote. Hawkins was nominated by Trustee Ken Davis. Merritt was nominated by Trustee Joe Garcia.

Davis and Trustee Steve Isenburgh voted for Hawkins, and Garcia and Trustee Del Whitall voted for Merritt. Ridgeway then cast the deciding vote. "I'm elated," Hawkins said. "Now I have to prove I'm the right person for the job. 'Til work hard for the board and, hopefully, we'll get some things accomplished for Nameoki Township. 'I'm really looking forward to this. I've got some big shoes to fill. Norman Hall did a good job, and if I can do half as well I'll be pleased," Hawkins said. In other action, Des Stoyanoff was re-appointed as deputy clerk.

Costello warns of Perot bandwagon

WOOD RIVER — The time is ripe for an independent to run for the White House, but voters should think twice before jumping on the bandwagon, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello warned Saturday.

"People are frustrated. That's why Ross Perot is running," the Belleville Democrat told about two dozen people during a town meeting at Wood River City Hall. "If Ross Perot is elected, he will have no cooperation with either party."

The Wood River meeting was one of a series Costello held Saturday in Madison County. Constituents peppered him with questions about balancing the budget, Social Security, veterans hospitals and creating jobs.

Costello, who told the Wood River crowd early that he would not take partisan politics, took a few punches at President George Bush and his trade policy. "He is so far out of touch with what's going on in this nation," Costello said, asserting that millions are unemployed and homeless. "He is insulated and isolated in the White House. He lives in a different world of reality."

Costello gave some advice on deciding whom to support for president. "Don't pay attention to what the candidates say; look at their records."

Several people voiced concern about the number of factory jobs that are being shipped south to Mexico, where wages are low and businesses don't have to contend with stringent worker safety and environmental protection laws.

"We're not on a fair playing ground with Mexico," Costello said. "You don't have to be a brain surgeon to figure that out." The way to even the score, he said, is to start the same tariffs and trade restrictions other countries put on the U.S.

1907 cornerstone added at park site

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

John Haug has revived a bit of Granite City history. Haug, 14, of Matthew Court is building a bench in Randall Robertson Park as a community service project to qualify for his Eagle Scout badge.

But this is no ordinary bench. The red brick structure features the original 1907 cornerstone from the old East Granite School, which was located on the Kate Street site until its demolition in 1991.

Residents may better remember the building as Webster Elementary School. After the school's demolition last year, the property was given to the Granite City Park District. It was dedicated as Randall Robertson Park earlier this year in honor of the long-time park district attorney. Haug and fellow members of Boy Scout Troop 103 placed the stone in the bench Friday, the culmination of about seven months of work. Haug made drawings, sought bids on materials and solicited free labor for the project. He presented his plans to the Granite City Council on July 7 and obtained about $800 in community development funds to complete the project.

Alderman Paul Fisk, who was instrumental in the creation of the park and helped Haug obtain the cornerstone from the street department, praised Haug for his work. "How many of you, by the age of 14, had done something for the community that will last as long as what this young man has done?" Fisk asked his fellow aldermen. Other Troop 103 members who assisted Haug include Matt Kelahan, Greg Edwards, Mark and Tim Dittman, Mike Patton, Jason Nesbitt, Sean Boyer, Tom Cruse and Scoutmaster Woody Halbrook.

Tomato contest entries sought

It may be hot and it may be humid, but the middle of July in the Metro East does have its shining moment. It's homegrown tomato season. Just for fun, the Journal begins its second annual "big tomato" contest on Monday. For the next three weeks, the Journal will be looking for the largest homegrown tomato in town. We'll weigh it and record the weight. Each week the master gardener will receive $10 for entering the largest tomato.

There will be no repeat winners, and contestants must sign a form saying that they did indeed grow the tomato in their own gardens. Entering is easy: Simply show up at the Journal office, 1815 Delmar, with tomato in hand during regular office hours of 9:30 a.m. through 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The first week's contest begins Monday and ends Friday at 2 p.m. The winner of each week's contest will be announced in the following Wednesday's Journal.

Regular guy seeking Aqua Velva candidate

The story in the newspaper said that as the '60s were the decade of the hippies, the '70s the decade of the preppies and the '80s the decade of the yuppies, the '90s were the decade of the regular guys.

I read on, regular guy that I am. It said a new regular guy in Columbus, Ohio, already had written a book defining regular guys as, among other things, guys who care more about power tools than power lunch. It said he got the idea for the book when he tried to buy Aqua Velva at the men's fragrance counter at the local mall.

It said regular guys hate tanning salons, frozen yogurt, opera and most vegetables. They love chainsaws, plaid shirts, hunting and beer.

I read all this and suddenly I understood Roy Blunt's campaign commercial. This commercial had been bothering me a whole lot more than it should. After all, with the Missouri primary just three weeks away, the airwaves are clogged with campaign commercials, all of them pretty evenly dreadful. But this one of Blunt's really had me baffled.

It shows Roy, who is currently Missouri's secretary of state but who wants to be governor, chopping wood. It shows Roy, who usually wears a nice blue suit, wearing jeans and a plaid flannel shirt. A teenage boy, presumably Roy's son, is helping him chop the wood. At the end, they stack the wood neatly and walk off down the road. Roy's hand on the boy's back.

The message is pretty clear. If you need someone to chop that political wood for you, Roy's the man. And if a guy can chop wood like Abe Lincoln, who's to say he couldn't govern like Abe Lincoln, too? The message of the commercial is that of Roy is a regular guy.

But it wasn't until I read about the ascendancy of the regular guy that I realized what bugged me about the commercial. And that was this:

Roy's flannel shirt looked like it had just come back from the cleaners. And regular guys don't send flannel shirts to the cleaners.

You regular guys know what I mean, and so do you who are married to regular guys. You wish a flannel shirt one time, and it's wrinkled like you don't care, you wear it anyway. What the heck? You're just going to chop wood.

So I watched the commercial again, and guess what? Roy's jeans were pressed, too. And there was no mud on his boots. What's more, he wasn't sweating a bit—what's he doing wearing a flannel shirt in July, anyway?—and every hair was in place at the end of the commercial when he posed gazing pensively into the distance, probably wondering what his dry cleaning bill was going to be.

And the more I thought about it, would a regular guy really be able to talk his teenage son into chopping wood with him?

Roy: "G'mon son. Let's go chop some wood."

Son: "Sure dad. Nice shirt."

Compare that to a real regular guy conversation with a real regular guy son.

R.G.: "Take off those headphones. We've got to cut some wood."

R.G.'s Son: "Sorry, dad. Got baseball practice then I have to get to the mall. Can I have ten bucks for gas?"

Clearly, this commercial is fraudulent. I can't vote for a pressed flannel guy. That leaves me either Bill Webster, who can't possibly be a regular guy because he has too many rich friends, or Wendell Bailey, who talks like a regular guy but can't possibly be a regular guy because he has no regular friends. He has a loaded automatic pistol in his briefcase. Regular guys are serious about guns.

On the Democratic side, there's Vince Schoemehl, whom I've known for years, but have never seen in a flannel shirt, or Mel Carnahan. Mel is certainly a regular guy name, but I don't know enough about him to recommend him as the regular guy candidate.

It may well be that regular guys are not attracted to politics. Oh, they pretend, the president with his horseshoes and pork rinds, Bill Clinton with his saxophone, Ross Perot with his horse. But answer me this:

Do they wear Aqua Velva or Old Spice or Skin Bracer? I'd have to smell them in the morning to know for sure. As a regular guy, I could never do that.

Man dies after fall from bridge

Authorities are calling the death of a 28-year-old Granite City man, pulled from the Chain of Rocks Canal on Saturday night, suspicious in nature.

Michael Glen Rotes, formerly of Edwardsville, was pronounced dead at 7:35 p.m. Saturday at the Chain of Rocks Canal, approximately a half-mile south of the Chain of Rocks Road canal bridge.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner David tor Roger Smith after the body was pulled from the canal. Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said Rotes' body sustained multiple trauma, following a fall from the canal bridge.

But, Burke said, the matter is still under investigation, and the death is being ruled "suspicious."

An inquest is planned to establish the cause of death.

An obituary appears elsewhere in this issue.

Arrested for 1990 beating

A 39-year-old Caseyville man was arrested Monday for the alleged kidnapping and beating of two men in Granite City more than a year and a half ago.

Robert J. Fernandez, of Carondelet Drive, was arrested Monday afternoon by Madison County sheriff's deputies on a warrant charging him with two counts of aggravated unlawful restraint and two counts of aggravated battery. Fernandez was being held in the county jail Tuesday morning in lieu of a $50,000 bond.

Fernandez is alleged to have held Larry Jordan and the Byers at gunpoint, bound their hands and feet with tape, and struck both men in the face and head on Dec. 30, 1990, in the 2900 block of National Avenue in Granite City.

OH MY ACHING CORNS!

A phrase so commonly used by those suffering needlessly from painful corns. Although trimming them affords temporary relief, within six to eight months the corns return with the pain and discomfort. The recurrence is due to the underlying calcium deposit causing excessive pressure where the skin responds by building up that corn tissue. In almost all instances the corn can be permanently removed by an in-office procedure requiring little or no time off work. There is no need to suffer any longer. Police investigating report of shooting

A 29-year-old Granite City man may have been shot during an altercation in the 2200 block of Iowa Street just before 11 p.m. Saturday.

Dennis P. Reeves, of the 2200 block of Madison Avenue, was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for a large hole behind his right ear, possibly with a bullet lodged there, according to an ambulance report. He was released later that night, a SEMC official said.

He suffered bruises and cuts to the head and other parts of his body during the incident, police said.

Police dispatched to the 2200 block of Iowa in reference to possible gunshots were met by Charles S. Littlejohn, 42, a resident of the area, who told police, "I shot him. They kicked in my fence and I shot him," according to a police report.

No charges had been filed Monday night, and the incident is still under investigation, Police Chief Don Knight said.

He said the preliminary report, which lists Reeves as the victim of a gunshot to the head, lists a revolver as the weapon used, may be inaccurate.

According to police reports, Littlejohn told police that he and his family were sitting down for dinner at 7:30 p.m. when they heard a vehicle skid in the alley behind their home, followed by a loud "thump."

Littlejohn looked out the window and saw a woman, later identified as Bobbie N. Johnston, 34, lying in the alley and a red and white Ford pickup truck driven by Reeves, back up and begin to pull forward again, as if to strike Johnston a second time, according to a police report.

Reeves then exited the vehicle and began fighting with Johnston, Littlejohn told police.

Littlejohn ran to the alley to assist Johnston, he said, at which time both Reeves and Johnston allegedly attacked him. Johnston was arrested and charged with battery.

Reeves was arrested and charged with battery, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

He was taken to SEMC, but, against the advice of a doctor, refused treatment, according to a police report.

But at 10:50 p.m., police were again dispatched to the Littlejohn residence, this time in response to the possibility that shots were fired.

Police said Reeves and another man had gone to the Littlejohn residence and enticed Littlejohn to fight.

That is when Littlejohn told police he had shot someone.

streets.

The city had previously signed an agreement with Harwitz Enterprises of Springfield, Ill., to build a retail development, anchored by a "major pharmaceutical retailer," on a portion of the block.

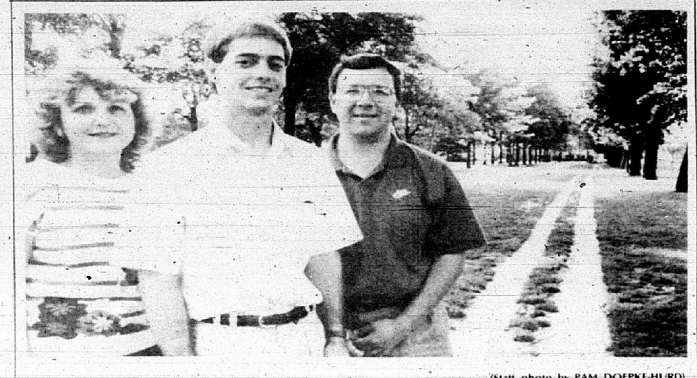

That agreement requires the city to acquire six parcels of land, enclose the property and build a parking lot, and sell the land to the developer for about $250,000 in the next four months.

Orbital said the city has reached an agreement with Clark Oil Co. to purchase the property at the corner of Madison Avenue and 2nd Street. He did not disclose the details of the transaction, but said the city will pay $100,000 for removal of underground gasoline storage tanks at the site.

Three other parcels have been acquired, and Orbital said the city will use "quick take" powers, if necessary, to acquire the other two parcels at the site of Granite City One-Hour Cleaners and a private residence.

The property is being purchased with TIF funds.

"Quick take" is a power granted municipalities to acquire property immediately in order to proceed with redevelopment plans if negotiations with property owners over eminent domain proceedings are stymied.

Fitness trail — Standing in front of the dirt track that will be paved as a fitness trail at Wilson Park are, from left, Nancy Sanders-Miles, Park Board president; Dennis Wilmsmeyer, chairman of the fitness trail funds committee; and Ron Moti, chairman of the Wilson Park engineering committee.

Under the quick-take statute, the city provides the property owner with preliminary compensation, title to the property is immediately vested, and the final purchase price is litigated at a later date.

Orbital said the city has made its final offer to the owners of the property in question, and the City Council will be asked, at its next meeting July 21, to authorize quick take proceedings.

County Arts Council awards grants

The Madison County Arts Council has awarded nearly $10,000 to 15 arts organizations in Madison County, said Bill Samples of the arts council.

Samples said, "The quality of the applications is outstanding and it is exciting to see the exceptional programs that continue to be offered in Madison County."

The funding is possible through the Madison County Arts Council Regranting Program. Funds raised by the MCAAC are matched by the Illinois Arts Council and regranted to local organizations.

The Regranting Awards distributed on June 15 were: The Art Exhibit Series, Cahokia Mounds Museum — $750 for Indian Body Decorative Arts event; Collinsville Area Community Concert Association — $750 for transportation for Brainer Home residents to attend concerts.

$750 for the summer production of "The Trial of Goldilocks" and Lewis and Clark Community College — $750 for the History Theater project.

Also receiving grants were: The Greater Alton Concert Association — $750 for Sleeping Beauty performed by the Springfield Ballet Company; The Alton Symphony Orchestra — $750 for Youth Symphony on tour; and The Midland Repertory Players — $750 for the presentation of Richard Strauss' "Die Fledermaus."

Grants to be awarded Aug. 1 are: Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville — $750 for the Art Exhibit Series; Cahokia Mounds Museum — $750 for Indian Body Decorative Arts event; Collinsville Area Community Concert Association — $750 for transportation for Brainer Home residents to attend concerts.

Also, Belleville Area College at Granite City campus — $750 for the Southwestern Illinois Cultural Celebration; Highland Historical Society — $750 for the Olde Time Power Show; The Riverwind Storytellers Company — $750 for the Second Annual Land of Goshen Storytelling Festival; and The Miners Institute Foundation — $750 for the presentation of Dracula.

Samples indicated that the Madison County Arts Council has undergone many changes recently, including the loss of the executive director, Maria Granberry. "We'll be operating as a volunteer organization for the next few months. As we make plans for the future, support for the local arts groups will continue to be an important priority," he said.

Williamson may back Freedom of Choice Act

(By Robert Estill)
for Copy/News Service

Republican Senate nominee Rich Williamson, who has drawn fire for an earlier switch on abortion, may join his Democratic rival, Carol Moseley Braun, in backing the proposed "Freedom of Choice Act."

Previously, Williamson said that he could not support the proposal, a measure to preserve in federal law abortion rights guaranteed by the Supreme Court's Roe versus Wade decision, because it went beyond the 1973 ruling.

But David Loveday, Williamson's press secretary, said Williamson may support the proposal if it addresses his "major concern" by allowing states to require parental notification and consent when minors seek an abortion.

There was no reference to parental consent in the earlier versions, but recent changes would allow states to require a minor to "involve" a parent, guardian or other responsible adult "in an abortion decision."

Loveday said "involve" is "pretty vague," and Williamson wants to see how the final version reads.

Williamson has faulted Braun because she opposes a parental notification and consent requirement.

Support for the proposal could widen Williamson's rift with anti-abortion conservatives.

They have been joined with the GOP hopeful since he joined the ranks of abortion rights advocates after signing an anti-abortion pledge last year, a pledge he calls a "mistake."

Braun said Williamson cannot justify his claim to be "pro-choice," she calls him "multiple choice" — unless he backs the proposed "choice" law that is likely to be passed by a Democratic Congress and vetoed by President Bush.

Braun contended the measure is "absolutely essential" after the Supreme Court's 1992 decision upholding the 1973 ruling but giving states broader power to restrict and regulate abortions.

Durbin pushes use of ethanol

U.S. Rep. Richard Durbin is asking Congress to consider ordering ethanol for the federal government's millions of vehicles.

"There is no reason why the federal government shouldn't be purchasing ethanol for its vehicles, whenever possible," Durbin, D-Springfield, told a House Armed Services Subcommittee earlier this month.

The Department of Defense stated in a recent report that there are no significant impediments to the use of ethanol in federal vehicles.

"With increasing concern over the environment and our nation's continuing reliance on foreign oil, ethanol has a greater role to play in our nation's energy policy than ever," the congressman said.

Camp for epileptic children

GODFREY — Children with epilepsy can attend a seven-day residential camp thanks to the Epilepsy Association of Southwestern Illinois.

PARKE-DAVIS Pharmaceuticals and St. Luke's Hospital in St. Louis are sponsoring the event at the Trails West Boy Scout Council's Camp Warren Lewis. The camp, which runs from July 26 to Aug. 1, is for children aged 7 to 11 who have been diagnosed with epilepsy.

"Most children with epilepsy don't get to experience camping because traditional camps can't dispense medicine or aren't equipped to handle the medical emergencies," said Cheryl Shaughnessy, Epilepsy Association director.

Medical staff will be on the grounds around the clock at Camp Warren Lewis.

The campers can enjoy swimming, team sports, arts and crafts, a riverboat ride, horseback riding, and a wildlife presentation by Tree-House Wildlife Center.

The camp costs $60, but some scholarships are available. Transportation can be provided if necessary. For more information, call Cindy Freeman at 236-2181 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Agencies see need for food escalating

First of two parts
By Jim Rygielski
Staff writer

Food drives are often associated only with Thanksgiving and Christmas, but the need to feed the hungry goes on year round, say those who operate one of the largest food suppliers for local food pantries. That need is growing and recently has extended to many people who never thought they'd go hungry, said those who work for Operation Food Search.

Food is a basic human right," said Bill Nordmann, executive director of Operation Food Search.

Starting today and continuing for the next month, Operation Food Search is beginning a drive to collect needed supplies of all kinds of food that can be given to — and distributed free by — nearly 200 local food pantries, soup kitchens and emergency shelters in both Missouri and Illinois.

Operation Food Search, based at 9637 Dielman Rock Island Drive near Olivette, will have clearly marked drop-off points for canned and packaged food at all Dierberg Markets, Nordmann said.

Based on statistics it gets from the agencies it supplies, Operation Food Search said it helps feed 83,000 needy people a month. That number is up from 65,000 last year.

Information from Operation Food Search indicates that as many as 200,000 St. Louisans could go hungry each month. The most vulnerable are the elderly and young," said Nordmann, whose background includes 13 years of social work as well as having been treasurer for Nordmann Printing Co.

Also among the vulnerable are those who because of hard economic times have lost their jobs in the last year.

"There's a whole new breed of poor people," said Edward Perrin, Operation Food Search's operations manager. "You've got college-educated people now working at minimum-wage jobs."

Operation Food Search over its 10 years of existence has built its number of food donors to more than 380. Among them are restaurants and hospitals as well as stores; the fare now includes perishables and prepared meals as well as canned goods. It accepts no government aid, Nordmann said.

Last year donations and money allowed Operation Food Search to distribute about $8 million in food, much of which would have gone to waste.

"The supplies are holding, but they're not getting any better," Nordmann said. "We're not going to keep up with the number of people who need food."

A visitor who toured Operation Food Search's well stocked 2,000-square-foot warehouse recently was told that those supplies would be gone within a couple days.

Already this year alone, Operation Food Search's Hunger Hotline — 569-0653 — has registered a 17 percent increase in the number of calls, Nordmann said.

"Our ultimate goal is not to be in business," Nordmann said, with the knowledge that that goal will not soon be realized.

The current food drive, which runs through Aug. 15, is also sponsored by KMOV-TV (channel 4). Nordmann said.

Part 2 on July 22 will look at a local food pantry.

Disability Act provision on hiring to take effect July 26

On July 26, which is the second anniversary of the Americans with Disabilities Act, a key provision regarding employment takes effect.

After that date, businesses with 25 or more employees may not discriminate against qualified people with disabilities. Employers must make reasonable accommodations for qualified applicants or employees with disabilities, including modifying work stations and equipment.

Two years later the provision will include employers with 15 to 24 workers. Other elements of the ADA require accessible mass transit and public accommodations.

"We have been gratified with the level of cooperation shown not just by government and business, but by all segments of society," said Audrey McCrmon, director of the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services. "While there was a lot of people of debate before the ADA was enacted, now most people are doing their best to comply with its provisions."

The ADA is viewed as the most important civil rights law since the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It extends to people with disabilities the same civil rights protections given to others on the basis of race, sex, national origin and religion, and guarantees equal opportunity for people with disabilities in employment, public accommodations, transportation, government services and telecommunications.

A major resource that can help businesses understand the ADA and compliance issues is the state's network of 10 Centers for Independent Living. CILs are community-based, not-for-profit, non-residential organizations whose governing boards are controlled by people with disabilities.

Despite interest rate drop, no housing boom foreseen —Plunging interest rates may spur potential home buyers, but bankers and real estate agents don't expect a boom in the housing market.

It's certainly having a positive impact, but I don't think we'll see a distinct upswing in buyers," said Ralph Paslay of Coldwell Banker Paslay Realtors in Bethalto. "I don't think it's going to create a surge. The market is better than it was last year, but sales haven't gone through the roof."

Efforts by the Federal Reserve to jump-start a sluggish economy should produce a dip in mortgage rates, but Paslay said the decrease was unlikely to generate as much interest as a previous cut in January.

"The people we've been working with who have been afraid to settle in will probably move on this. And people with floating loans will most likely want to lock in. Now is a good time."

The interest rate on a 30-year fixed mortgage ranges from 8.37 percent to 8.65 percent at Metro East financial institutions. That compares with 10 percent to 10.25 percent in June 1991, when the Federal Reserve Board began acting to cut interest rates in general.

Rates on a 15-year fixed mortgage range from 7.91 percent to 8.25 percent. Mortgage rates bottomed out in January at 8.23 percent, then began climbing again.

Paslay said sales were about 45 percent ahead of last year but declined to give specific figures.

Tom Stromske, vice president and regional manager of United Federal Bank, said lower rates should mean more loans.

"It makes buying a house extremely more attractive," he said. "I've been canvassing Realtors, and they appear to be very optimistic. I think activity is going to pick up."

Applicants who unsuccessfully attempted to refinance their homes during the first half of the year will account for some of the new loan volume.

"We won't see the volume we saw last winter or early in the year, but some folks will come in to refinance," Stromske said.

"We won't see another round like we did the last time," said Larry Jones, senior vice president of Wedge Bank.

Interest rates may be responsible for demand in new home construction, which has nearly doubled this year, Paslay said.

"I have 18 units under construction now, and last year I had 10," he said. "With these rates, you can buy more home. People are willing to build because now they can look at a whirlpool or a bigger deck."

Burris pledges to resist abortion curbs

Illinois Attorney General Roland W. Burris said he will vigorously oppose any legislative effort to restrict abortion rights in Illinois.

Although Pennsylvania decided to place restrictions on a woman's right to choose an abortion, Illinois need not do the same," Burris said.

"Illinois must resist all efforts to place unnecessary restrictions on a woman who chooses not to carry a pregnancy to term."

Burris said he will personally oppose mandatory waiting periods, parental notification, parental consent or any of the other hundred or so restrictions that anti-choice legislators will attempt to pass.

Burris said the U.S. Supreme Court's recent decision in the Pennsylvania case does not impact on the current right of an Illinois woman to choose whether or not to carry a pregnancy to term.

The Attorney General noted that federal courts previously invalidated a 1975 Illinois law restricting abortions and a 1983 Illinois law requiring a minor to notify her parents of her plans to have an abortion.

"I am pleased with the decision to the extent that the U.S. Supreme Court rejected the effort to overturn Roe vs. Wade," the attorney general said. "However, I am distressed that the court has ruled that states may place certain restrictions on a woman's right to choose. I will work to see to it that Illinois does not impose any such restrictions."

Park District plans trip to Wisconsin dairy country

Once again the Granite City Park District will sponsor a trip to the dairy country at New Glarus, Wis. This little village is compared to one in Switzerland as its residents are mainly of Swiss heritage, many being born there.

The group will stay at the Chalet Landhaus, an impeccable hotel with Swiss architecture and a restaurant headed by a young chef trained in Switzerland. A buffet breakfast and complete authentic Swiss meal will be enjoyed at the hotel during the weekend.

The bus will leave the Wilson Park ice rink early on Friday, Aug. 14, and return Sunday evening, Aug. 16. Lunch on Friday will be a complete buffet at "The Maples" in LaSalle, Ill.

There will be a stop at a Swiss lace factory to watch Schiffring embroidery work done on fabric before the group arrives at the Chalet Landhaus. Friday night is free to roam the tiny town of New Glarus and visit some of the shops and have dinner in one of the eating spots or go to the eight-room New Glarus Hotel and enjoy the music of Roger Bright's polka band.

Saturday the group will travel to Reedsburg, Wis., to visit an outstanding Norman Rockwell Museum before journeying to the Wisconsin Dells area. A buffet lunch will be at the Inn of the Dells before the 1 p.m. Johnny Hartlett Water Show.

The day at the Dells will end with a ride in the famous Original Wisconsin Ducks. The Swiss dinner will be after the group arrives back in New Glarus. Authentic Swiss music will entertain.

After departing on Sunday, a stop will be made in Monroe, Wis., at a cheese factory where a guide will explain the procedure of cheese-making in Wisconsin and where freshly made cheese of all varieties may be purchased.

The cost of the trip includes the bus fare, four complete meals, motel for two nights, and all the attractions at the Dells. The entire amount must be paid at the time of registration. Sign up is currently available.

Residents of the Park District will have priority in making reservations and non-residents will be placed on a waiting list and be notified after one week if openings exist.

For one person to a room, the amount is $216.65. A double room will be $175.65 per person; three to a room will be $162.65 each, and four to a room will be $133.65 each or $64.00 for the total room cost.

Help sought for compulsive gamblers

If you deal the cards, you should be willing to pick up the pieces. Advocates of a state-supported treatment fund for compulsive gamblers say lawmakers are shirking their responsibility to ensure that legalized gambling has as few negative consequences as possible.

Mark Rund, a clinical social worker in Alton, said he had treated about a dozen compulsive gamblers in the last several years. His clients feed their habit on the Alton Belle Riverboat Casino or with various forms of video poker.

Rund is unequivocal about the need for a state-financed treatment program.

"I think it really is needed. There has been a lot of gambling in the Alton area, but with riverboat gambling there are many more (gamblers) coming here," he said.

"A percentage of these people will develop addictions, and yet they don't have (treatment) support."

"Is an assistance program needed in Illinois? Absolutely," said Mary Ubina, director of the Iowa Gamblers Assistance Program, which has treated more than 1,000 Iowa people and some Illinoisans since 1988.

"Compulsive gambling is just another form of addiction. If the state promotes legalized gambling, it should have a system to treat the problem," she said.

Jean Falzon, executive director of the National Council on Problem Gambling Inc., also is sure lotteries and riverboat gambling create addictions.

"State government markets it to people through advertising, so it's the responsibility of the state to provide revenues for assistance," she said.

Unlike their counterparts in Iowa, Illinois lawmakers haven't chipped in any treatment money because of disagreements about whether the games create compulsive behavior.

"No one feels that a person is a compulsive gambler if he buys a lottery ticket once a week," said Rep. Zeke Giorgi, a Rockford Democrat and House sponsor of the lottery and riverboat gambling bills.

"Some people joked about compulsive gamblers going to riverboats. Is a guy a compulsive gambler if he goes to the bank, with draws $200 and then drives 100 miles to a riverboat?"

Solid research in Illinois could change lawmakers' minds, Giorgi said. "Someone ought to do a scientific study to tell us what is happening."

Legislators say they doubt some arguments by advocates of state-backed treatment.

Others say they are sure riverboat gambling is developing addictions that destroy lives and families.

A compulsive gambler is any one whose gambling causes ongoing problems in any part of life, Ubina said.

Iowa, which started a lottery in 1985 and riverboat gambling two years ago, is expected to treat about 400 for gambling addiction this year. The state provided $250,000 for the cause last year.

Estimating the size of Illinois' gambling problem is difficult, officials said, because abusers seek help only after extended, heavy losses and deep debt.

The National Council on Problem Gambling Inc. estimates 2 percent to 4 percent of the population in gambling states similar to Illinois will become addicted. That would be up to 450,000 Illinoisans.

"There are going to be a lot of people in need of service," said Tom Fennelly, a state counselor in northeast Iowa who has treated 25 Illinoisans this year for riverboat and lottery addictions. "I'm seeing more (gambling addicts) every day, and it's not just people from riverboat casinos. They're also (addicts) from other forms of gambling in eastern Iowa and Illinois."

Fennelly, who has testified before Illinois lawmakers about the problems that proposed casino gambling would bring to Chicago, said he might have to turn Illinoisans away if too many of them appeared at his office for treatment.

He said he heard from Illinoisans within a week of Casino Rock Island's opening in March.

Lawmakers should stop questioning whether addiction exists and begin debating how much they owe for treatment, Falzon said.

No state government promotes drug taking. Yet, every state provides revenue for drug abuse.

No state promotes alcohol abuse. Yet, each provides revenues for alcohol abuse.

Officials deny Belle addictive

Gamblers don't get the high on floating casinos that leads to compulsive addictions, a spokesman for the Alton Belle Riverboat Casino said.

"If a person really wants to gamble, he'll go to Las Vegas or find some other type of entertainment," Belle marketing director John Reichert said.

But Alton psychologist Mark Rund said riverboat and lottery officials were wrong in their claims that their games are too low-key and well-regulated to cause addictions.

"I just don't think that is true. I don't see any stock in somebody saying that a gambling addiction isn't fed by the casino or the lottery. I think that's denial," he said.

Reichert said the atmosphere was not right on floating casinos for addictive behavior.

"One thing that makes us traditionally different is that people have to pay. They have to make a conscious effort to make one of the excursions. They can't just drive through, walk on and play," he said.

The Alton Belle has tight credit rules to prevent compulsive behavior, Reichert said, though it does offer banking machines and cash advances on credit cards.

Lottery spokesman Michael Lang said the state's largest gambling operation also didn't foster compulsive behavior because it lacked "the kind of action they (addicted gamblers) crave."

"Our product doesn't appeal to them. If you ask problem gamblers, they'll tell you they are not interested in it," he said.

We try to encourage people to play in moderation, not in excess.

Compulsive gambling doesn't appear to be as much a problem as other behaviors, Lang said.

"More people are compulsive eaters than compulsive gamblers."

Ball-B-Cue will benefit Jefferson County shelter

A Jefferson County, Mo., shelter will benefit from a fund-raiser sponsored by the St. Louis Pinch-Hitters.

Jefferson County Shelter Care Inc., in Hereclaneum, will receive about 90 percent of the proceeds raised at the 31st Annual Pinch Hitters Ball-B-Cue fund-raiser. The Pinch Hitters is an organization made up of spouses of Cardinal baseball players, former players and staff members.

Jefferson County Shelter Care is a home for abused and neglected girls between the ages of 6 and 20, said director Barbara Weeks. "We have 12 girls at a time, and this is their home," she said. "They go to public school, and we have a full-time staff, live-in houseparents and a full-time social worker."

The shelter has housed 70 girls since it first opened in 1990, Weeks said.

"The shelter is like a home to me," said Jan. 19, Jan (not her real name) lived at the facility for a year.

"They really helped me get on my feet," Jan said. "They helped me get an apartment, and loaned me money to finance my car."

Jan now works for the Division of Family Services. "I couldn't have done it without them. It's like my family. I still go back and visit all the time, almost every day."

The shelter's goal is to open a similar facility for boys in 1993, Weeks said. "Hopefully this will be our start-up money for that," she said.

The shelter was the recipient of Ball-B-Cue's chief recipient last year, and received about $65,000, Weeks said. "It's a biggie," she said. "We're thrilled to death to be part of this."

The event will be Sunday, July 26. It begins at 1:15 p.m. at Busch Stadium, where the Cardinals will play the Cincinnati Reds, said Kolene Ties, chairwoman of this year's event.

After the game, the Ball-B-Cue will move to Grant's Farm, where there will be a dinner and entertainment.

"We'll have things like baseball bingo, balloons, an auction and baseball memorabilia," Thies said. KMOX sports broadcaster Jack Buck will be the master of ceremonies at the event, she said.

The organization chose Jefferson County Shelter Care to be its recipient after a charity committee examined several St. Louis charities.

"The event has always strictly been for children's charities," Thies said. "We want to help physically, mentally and emotionally hurt kids."

Two runner-up organizations, Boys Hope and Support Dogs Inc., will receive a small portion of the money raised, Thies said.

Tickets to the event cost $75 dollars. Special "MVP" tickets are available for $500. MVPs get special seating at the game and special recognition during the events at Grant's Farm, Weeks said.

There is a maximum of 950 tickets to be sold. "We'd like a sellout," Weeks said. "So far, tickets are selling very well."

Roscoe said she is "really excited" about the fundraiser. "Anything that helps the shelter is worthwhile. It's the best thing that ever happened to me."

Ricky Taylor Jr.

Ricky Taylor Jr., age five months, of Millstadt died Saturday, July 11, 1992, at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Belleville.

Ricky was born Jan. 27, 1992, in Red Bank.

He is survived by his parents, Ricky Taylor Sr. and Lisa (Clutter) Taylor of Millstadt; one sister, Nicole Taylor of Millstadt; his maternal grandparents, Cletis and Jean Alcorn of Columbia; paternal grandparents, Milford and Arlene Taylor of Creve Coeur, Mo.; and a maternal great-grandmother, Josephine Herderhorst of Granite City.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at Strauss Funeral Home in Millstadt with the Rev. Edward Melchior officiating. Burial was in Valhalla Gardens of Memory Cemetery, Belleville.

Murder victim had feared for her life

A former Madison woman, found murdered in her home, had feared for her life.

The body of Jo Ann (Onesky) Dietzel, 72, of the first block of Beth Lane in Foster Township, was discovered by her eight-year-old daughter and a babysitter about 10:45 a.m. Monday.

Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchich said no one was in custody Tuesday.

"It's going to be a tough case because she had a party at her house until 3 a.m. (Monday)," he said. "The neighbors said there were all kinds of people going in and out of the house."

There was a lot of activity," Churchich said. "It appeared Dietzel was strangled and beaten with a child's baseball bat. The bat was broken in half and a piece may have been used to stab her in the stomach."

The hearing was very severe," he said. "In fact, it's what we call overkill. The victim who did this doesn't belong on the street."

An autopsy revealed Dietzel had been battered to death.

Her small-frame body, reportedly weighing about 100 pounds, was found lying in a pool of blood, one source said.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine said Tuesday Dietzel had obtained a court order of protection from her estranged husband June 26.

Although Haine's office was not involved in getting the order, he said Dietzel had contacted a member of his staff about threats from a man.

"My office did not get it for her," Haine said. "We will pursue an order of protection if criminal charges are filed. We have to rely on the Madison County Sheriff's Department reports."

"We called her name up on the computer and it went nuts about all the problems she had," Churchich said.

"We were instrumental in getting her police at her house," said a neighbor who asked not to be identified. "It seems like there was always some kind of trouble at that house."

"I didn't know (Dietzel) very well. She just kind of kept to herself. I really felt sorry for the little girl."

Another neighbor, who also asked not to be identified, said she had witnessed Dietzel being beaten by a man in Dietzel's front yard. She said the man also threw gasoline on Dietzel during a fight.

When the police cars pulled up (Monday) I was behind them and I figured he was just another fight," she said.

"I knew stuff had been happening all these months, but this is a real shame," she said.

Dietzel's daughter reportedly spent Sunday night at the baby sister's house.

Triplets watch title hopes slip away after a pair of one-run losses

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

The Triplets were considered one of the favorites to win the Kenny Kent/National Bank Invitational Tournament in Evansville, Ind.

But following an impressive showing on opening day, Post 13 lost a pair of one-run games on Saturday knocking the Triplets out of contention. Tri-City dropped a 3-2 decision to the eventual champion, Eugene Pate (Ind.), in eight innings before getting nipped by Owensboro (Ky.) 2-1 on Saturday night at Bosse Field.

Chris Hill's throwing error in the seventh inning opened the door for Eugene Pate's rally. "I'll take the entire blame for our poor finish," Tri-City manager Ralph Burnett said. "The kids were really down after we lost the (Eugene Pate) game. They were real excited about playing them. Like us, they were favored to win the tournament."

"Beating them would have put us in the championship game. But we couldn't hold the lead and they came back and beat us in a well-played game. It was a tremendous effort by our kids, but once we lost that game, the guys just went flat. And I had something to do with that because I told them we deserved to be in the championship game. We weren't a third-place team from a third-place town. Friday's rain had an effect on the Eugene Pate game."

Drake Marshall

"I really felt bad we played them Friday night, like we were supposed to, we might have beaten them," Burnett said. "But sitting around all night took the momentum away from us."

Discouraged by those one-run losses, Tri-City (20-6) dropped a 6-3 decision to Palatine (Ill.) in the third-place game on Sunday.

"We just didn't have any fire left, especially for Palatine the second time around," Burnett

Jason Maxfield missed the Evansville tournament. He might also miss a few more games. Maxfield injured his knee playing soccer over the weekend and he's on crutches.

"The kids weren't into it. And I can't really blame them. After all, they played four excel-

Eugene Pate went on to win the championship by smashing Owensboro 10-1 in the title game.

"It was definitely a loaded field," Burnett said. "Everyone had us and Eugene Pate in the championship before the tournament even started. But there were a lot of good teams out there."

Now, Burnett and the Triplets must turn their attention towards the stretch run of the District 22 playoffs. Tri-City is 13-3 in district play and has a comfortable lead in the North Division.

"There's no question in my mind that we'll win the division and reach the double-elimination round," Burnett said. "We just have to regroup and focus our attention on the upcoming playoffs."

The Triplets hosted Highland at Varsity Field on Tuesday. Details will appear in Thursday's Press Record.

Eagles gain split their twinbill against Sauget

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

The Wizards earned a split on Sunday in their Mon-Clair League doubleheader with Granite City.

The Eagles captured the opener 7-2 behind the five-hit pitching of Mark Terver before Sauget (11-7 in the Mon-Clair League; 25-10 overall) came charging back to take the night cap 12-9 at Dal Maxvill Field. A seven-run fourth inning helped Sauget snapped out of its slump in the second game.

"We finally got the bats going," said Sauget player/manager Bob Wilber, who belted a two-run homer in the fourth. "Granite City did a great job shutting us down in the first game. We couldn't generate any offense. But Darn-Hendrickson wasn't that sharp today and it enabled us to take advantage of him."

Sauget in the Metro East and the CYC Leagues during the week, only lasted four innings and coughed up 12 runs.

"I was thinking too much on the mind," he said. "I tried to throw too many strikes and the ball just hung in there for their hitters. Sauget is a solid-hitting team. You can give them anything too good around the plate, or they'll smack you around."

But Wilber was glad with the split, even though it leaves Sauget in a first-place tie with Valmeyer in the St. Clair Division. The Lakers (11-7) split their doubleheader with Millstadt, Valmeyer took the opener 10-1, but the VFW captured the second game, 6-2.

"A split here is beneficial," Wilber said. "It means we're still in the hunt for the division title. Granite City's a good ball club. Winning a game in their park means a lot for the visiting team's confidence."

Meanwhile, Granite City (13-5) player/manager Darn-Hendrickson ponders the Eagles chances of catching Waterloo in the Monroe Division. The Buds had an easy time taking Brooklyn twice, 26-8 and 19-2.

"We definitely needed a sweep," he said. "But it's tough taking two games against Sauget. Their ball club is loaded from top to bottom. We got them pretty good in the first game, but they turned it loose in the second game."

"I wouldn't consider the split a major setback," Hendrickson said. "Waterloo is the best team in the league. I don't know if we'll catch them, but we've fulfilled our goal of making the playoffs."

Granite City blew a 5-3 lead in the night cap.

"It was a typical Mon-Clair League game," DePew said. "Both sides scored a lot of runs, but they had a few more cross the plate than we did."

"It was a battle of attrition," Wilber said. "We really didn't beat Granite City, we just outlasted them."

Darn DePew blasted a three-run homer in the opener on Sunday against Sauget, but the Eagles could only earn a split of their doubleheader with the Wizards.

Mon-Clair All-Star game set for Thursday

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

When the 27th annual Mon-Clair Baseball League All-Star Game returns to Waterloo on Thursday, the festivities will begin appropriately enough with a home-run hitting contest at a home-run derby.

Given the Waterloo Buds' hit-friendly park, such a contest seems obligatory. Five long balls were produced during last year's game at the Gibault High School diamond, where the ball carries best at night.

Before last year's game started, spectators were treated to a cow-milking contest instead of a home-run derby.

"I was a little disappointed last year when we didn't have it, but the cow-milking contest was a lot of fun," said Mel Patton, the league president. "When we had the home-run contest at Sauget, you were lucky to get one out in five swings. In Waterloo's ballpark, you ought to get something out."

"I think it's a good way to open the evening," said Dennis Pieper, Valmeyer's manager. "We've done it in previous years, and I always thought it was a lot of fun. It might be even more entertaining at Waterloo the way the ball jumps out."

This year's game will begin at 8 p.m., following the home-run contest and entertainment by the Bud-Light Brigade musical band.

The game features the top players from the Monroe Division against the best in the St. Clair Division. The players were selected by league managers at a meeting on July 6. The managers of the teams in first place in each division at the time of the selections, will lead the two squads.

The home-run contest will also pit the Monroe and St. Clair teams. Each hitter will get three pitches, and the team with the most home runs wins.

Last year's game was held at Waterloo following a five-year stay at Sauget. Waterloo manager Vern Moehrs organized the affair for the first time and requested to be this year's host after receiving numerous compliments.

"Based on last year's game, Waterloo seems to be an excellent site," Patton said. "The people sure seemed to turn out, and everything was handled real well. I'm not sure if we've ever had that kind of attendance."

"I thought it was one of the best All-Star games we've ever had, not just because of the game but also for the activities that pre-empted it," Pieper said. "I know Yezzie puts a lot of work into it and I'm sure that it will be just as entertaining as last year."

"It will be a great night," Moehrs said.

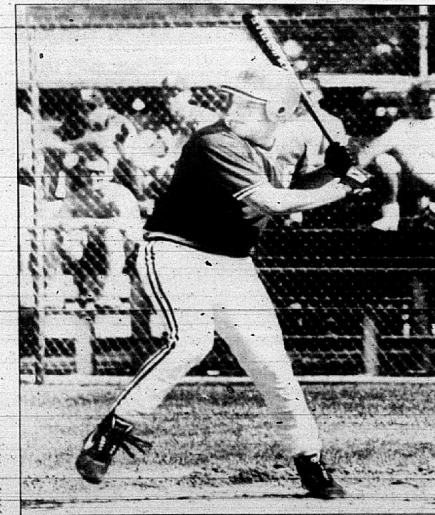

"Although Moehrs said this might be the last year for the game at Waterloo, he may well decide to change his mind after Thursday night."

Moehrs is once again managing the Monroe team, and his overall record in All-Star competition is 13-3. St. Clair will be managed by Sauget's Bob Wilber.

"I hope to see all our players do well," Moehrs said. "I like to win one more. I don't know if anyone else has won even two. Five of Moehrs' players on the Buds have made the starting lineup: first baseman Mike Wirth, with a .400 batting average; second baseman Clay Moehrs (.400); third baseman Mike Roy (.433) and outfielders Jim Wahlg (.410) and John Wahlg (.420)."

Two players from Millstadt—shortstop Pete Wessel (.432) and designated hitter Brad Landgraf (.392)—were also selected. The other Monroe starters are K.C. Doucette (.429) and catcher Rick Mundy (.377); both of Brighton.

Granite City right-hander Brian Harshany will be the team's John Moad is one of five Eagles selected to play for the Monroe Division in Thursday's mid-season classic. The others are: Brian Harshany, Darn-Hendrickson, Tim Hogan and Darn DePew.

Starting pitcher Harshany, who has a 4.0 record with a 3.55 earned-run average, defeated the Buds late last month with a strong outing.

"When he pitched against us, I was very impressed," Moehrs said. "I thought he had a little more experience than some of the others. Everybody who has been picked is deserving."

Juniors nipped by powerful O'Fallon

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

The Junior Triplets, who had won six straight, finally met their match on Sunday night.

O'Fallon, bolstered by a four-hitter from lefty Don O'Keefe, edged out a 2-1 win at Varsity Field.

"The same team that exploded for 27 runs and 24 hits in a doubleheader sweep of Highland on Saturday was muffled by O'Keefe, who retired 12 of the last 13 hitters."

"We hit an awful lot of pop-ups," said manager Doug Winfield. "We couldn't adjust from the Highland pitching to their pitcher (O'Keefe)."

Granite City (22-11 overall, 18-9 in league play) carried a 1-0 lead into the sixth before O'Fallon (20-4 in league play) finally solved starter Jeff Ridenour. Four straight singles tied the game at 1-1. An intentional walk followed by a wild pitch brought home Alex Alexander with the game-winning run.

"Jeff pitched a whale of a game—but it was just one of those things," said Winfield. "The kids knew they couldn't catch them coming into the game. They wanted to win, but that was tempered by the fact that we couldn't catch them."

In the first inning, it looked like the Junior Triplets were going to jump all over O'Keefe and take a big lead early. Mark Winfield and Jason Talley were on first and second when Ridenour lined a one-out single. Talley was thrown out trying to score and Winfield and Ridenour were stranded.

"We had our chances early," said Winfield. "Their centerfielder (Mike Neri) made a good play to cut the ball off and then made a great throw."

Granite City scored their only run in the fourth. Winfield singled and was balked to second. Two outs later, Jason Black doubled to left for a 1-0 lead.

O'Fallon's sixth inning could have been more profitable, but they had two runners thrown out at the plate. Brian Northway tried to score on a single to right but was gunned down by Winfield. Neri was erased when he tried to score on a wild pitch.

O'Keefe, who walked none and struck out five, retired the last 10 Granite City batters to silence any comeback attempt.

The Junior Triplets, passed Highland for first in the South Division with their sweep on Saturday.

They pounded out 14 hits in a 10-3 win in the opener. Andy Roe went 3 for 3 with a homer and RBIs. Brian Kohler also sent

Moore goes to Culver-Stockton

Chris Moore wants to be a student athlete at Culver-Stockton this fall.

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

Chris Moore won't be standing on the sidelines this fall.

The all-state running back from East St. Louis High School, who was deemed a Prop 48 casualty at the University of Illinois, will attend Culver-Stockton College, an NAIA school in Canton, Mo., this season. The NAIA requires that a student meets two out of three standards to be eligible for varsity athletics and Moore clearly meets those requirements.

Moore, the state's all-time leading rusher with 3,174 yards, is looking forward to the opportunity.

"Now, I can worry about getting myself in shape to play football in the fall," said Moore, who must report for practice on Aug. 18. "I'm disappointed about what happened at Illinois, but I wouldn't call it a setback. Instead, I'd call it an eye-opening experience."

This will motivate me to work hard in the classroom, not just during the football season, but for the entire year. It's time to buckle down and get serious about my education.

Moore was all business on the gridiron during his prep career, helping the Flyers to a pair of state championships. But he's going to patiently wait his turn in college.

"Culver has some outstanding running backs returning," he said. "I just can't expect the coach, Al Tammerelli, to throw me in there ahead of those guys. I have to prove myself all over again. I have to see what the competition's like and gauge myself to play at that level."

But Moore believes he can be a successful college player.

"Without a question," he said. "I'm confident that over a period of four years I can prove myself up there just like I did at East St. Louis. It's a matter of learning a new system, and I can pick things up pretty quick. I haven't any doubts in my abilities."

But Moore, who will attend Culver-Stockton for one year so

Monken retires from coaching at Lincoln

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

Nothing lasts forever.
Jim Monken, who coached football at East St. Louis Assumption and Lincoln High Schools for 32 years, has finally called it quits. Health problems played a major role in his decision.

Athletic director Jimmy Adams will replace Monken as Lincoln's new head coach this season. This will be Adams' second go-around as head coach. He coached the Tigers for 12 years (1973-84) and was 71-35-2.

Monken, who suffered a mild stroke on Oct. 9, 1989, while coaching at Lincoln, will officially retire on August 24 — the first day of the new school year. Despite his health problems, Monken returned last season and led the Tigers to a 6-4 record and the Class 'AA' state playoffs. But he suffered a seizure in late March and missed the rest of the school year.

"It's a difficult decision for Jim to make," said his wife Barbara. "It's not something he would have done had he been in good health. Jim really enjoyed himself last year, and he had intentions of coming back this season. But things just didn't work out that way."

Monken, who was elected to the Illinois High School Football Coaches' Association Hall of Fame in 1990, began his coaching career as a freshman/sophomore coach at Assumption in 1960. He replaced George Martz as head coach in 1967.

During his career, Monken was 160-77-2. He won five Quad County Conference championships, produced four undefeated teams, reached the playoffs 10 times and had four semifinal appearances in the state playoffs. He also had four players reach the professional ranks: Eric Wright (San Francisco 49ers), Bobby Johnson (New York Giants), Mamez Carter (United States Football League) and Jerome Heavens (New England Patriots, Chicago Bears and the Canadian Football League).

"Jim had quite a career," Barb Monken said. "We're all very proud of him. He was always real close to his players. They fed off each other. They loved him and showed it by their performance on the field."

Lincoln quarterback Lester Anderson, who will attend Michigan State University in the fall, had a close relationship with Monken.

"Coach Monken was special," Anderson said. "He went out of his way for the players. He never harped on us and he wasn't one of these guys that nipped at all the time. He was a gentleman and he made gentlemen out of us."

"I was shocked when I heard he retired, but it's the best thing for him. He's sick and he doesn't need all that pressure. I'm just glad I got to play for him. It was a great experience. I'll always cherish it."

But memories are all that remain.

"Football season's just around the corner," Barb Monken said. "It's going to be a difficult period in Jim's life not being on the sidelines this year. I mean, you just don't give something up that's been a major part of your life without noticing it."

"But we plan on going to a lot of games this season, and having some time off will also give Jim an opportunity to see his nephews play. He was so busy in the past that he hardly got to see his own son (Jimmy) play. The only unusual thing this fall will be having him home in the evenings. I'm so used to seeing him on the go all the time, scouting or attending meetings. Things will be a little different this year."

Southern women win bronze

By Scott Marlon
Staff writer

The Southern Region women's open soccer team earned a bronze medal at last week's Prairie State Games — without even having to play the third-place game.

Southern — which had a 2-1 record in pool play — was awarded third place on a double forfeit. Its scheduled opponent, Wilco, had a win over West Central disallowed when West Central protested that Wilco was using ineligible players.

Wilco — which had only nine players in the open division — got permission from its regional director to use scholastic players to fill out the lineup. But it didn't notify the other regions or Prairie State officials, thus violating PSG rules.

The ruling should have put West Central into the third-place game, but it didn't have enough players left to field a team. With nobody left to play, Southern was awarded the bronze medal.

Southern was coached by Ruben Mendoza and assistants Mike Dixon and Eric Mitchell. Its roster includes:

Julie Corrie, Amy Bickford, Jamie Castillas, Jackie Herren, Kelli Van Hoose, Mindy Holcomb, Shelly Sarraich, Aimee Bui and Amy Sarraich of Collinsville.

Maria Parra, Terry Schuler, Angie Moore, Jennifer Harper and Tina Rees of Granite City.

Patricia Dixon, Lane Deetman, Teri Head and Angie Viviano of Edwardsville. In pool play, Southern won 4-2 over Blue Gray and 5-0 over Windy City before losing 1-0 to Pioneer.

Briefly

Parade planning begins

The Tri City Chapter of Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, is beginning the preparations for the 11th annual Labor Day Parade in Granite City, which will be held on Monday, Sept. 7.

The group plans to start the day in traditional fashion by marching through the streets of Granite City to the grounds of Wilson Park. The parade route will be the same as the previous parades, lining up in the downtown area (18th Street and Edison Avenue) at 8 a.m., and the parade starting at 10 a.m.

Any civic organization wanting to march should contact Roger Hoover, Chapter chairman, at 345-4172. Also any trade and labor unions wanting to march should contact Norma Gaines at 931-1968.

Jaycees coming to Pontoon

The Jaycees are coming to the Village of Pontoon Beach. The heart of the movement lies within local community Jaycee chapters. The organization was started in 1921 by one person, Henry Giessemer. From there, the movement has expanded into what it is today.

The objective of a Jaycee chapter is to meet community needs while developing members' skills as they fill leadership roles. Jaycee programs are designed to serve the individual and the community. The total Jaycee concept offers opportunities for community involvement, leadership training and personal growth.

To be a charter member of the Pontoon Beach Jaycees call Joe Griffin at (618) 451-1793 or Jim Grover at (618) 288-5845 or (314) 291-4779.

The Jaycees is a not-for-profit organization for young adults between the ages of 21 and 40.

Savory Eggplant Salad

- 1 medium red onion, finely sliced (1 1/2 cup)
- 1 or 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 3 tbsp. extra virgin olive oil
- 1 lb. eggplant
- 2 medium tomatoes, seeded, chopped (2 1/2 cups)
- 1 lb. celery, finely chopped (1 1/2 cup)
- 2 tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. minced fresh or 2 tsp. dried oregano
- 2 oz. Jarlsberg cheese, cut in very thin strips or shredded (1/2 cup)
- Freshly ground black pepper

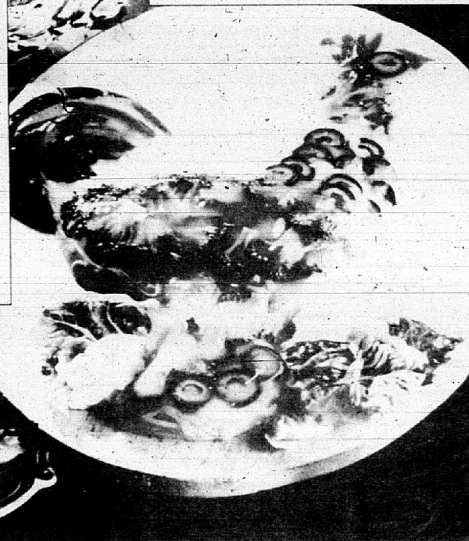

Soak sliced onion in ice water to cover. This mellows the flavor. Combine garlic and olive oil. Prick eggplant all over with fork. Place in large pot of salted, boiling water, to simmer 8 to 10 minutes until tender. Cool in colander. Cut in 1-inch cubes. Peel eggplant, if desired. Drain and towel dry onion. Combine with olive oil mixture, eggplant, tomato, celery, vinegar, sugar, oregano and cheese. Refrigerate, covered, up to 1 or 2 hours in advance. Toss before serving. Season with freshly ground pepper to taste. Serve on bed of mixed greens with couscous or rice.

Makes 6 servings

Salmon 'n Nut Pasta

- 1/2 oz. pine nuts or chopped walnuts
- 1 tsp. plus 3 tbsp. extra virgin olive oil, divided
- 1 lb. skinned, boned salmon, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 1 lb. uncooked thin spaghetti or angel hair pasta
- 5 oz. (1 cup) frozen petite peas
- 1/2 tsp. finely minced lemon zest
- 1/2 tsp. finely chopped fresh or 1 tsp. dried tarragon
- 1 cup (3/4 oz.) Jarlsberg shredded cheese
- Freshly ground black pepper

Shake nuts in skillet over medium-high heat until nearly golden. Let cool. In same pan, heat 1 teaspoon olive oil. Sauté salmon 4 to 5 minutes until done. Cook pasta according to directions. Three minutes before end of cooking, add peas. Drain. In serving bowl, toss pasta and peas with salmon, lemon zest, tarragon, remaining olive oil and cheese. Pass pepper grinder at the table. Makes 6 servings.

SUMMERUPDATE

COOL FOODS RULE

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

In the good of summertime, people eat to the strains of a different saucepan. Take clothes, meals are streamlined. They are in tune with flavors and colors that refresh. With a vacation from regular schedule, bodies undergo an overhaul with fresh foods that resemble winter fare—but are lighter and simpler to cook and eat.

Meals in one often feature a combination of vegetables with rice and pasta. Cheese offers a rich, mellow flavor that allows other flavors to mesh. A light-colored, semisoft, part-skim cheese can replace the one listed in these recipes. Protein in many summer dishes comes from the cheese and a small amount of seafood, chicken and nuts, instead of heavier meats.

Foods themselves are cool. Rice and pasta turn from the heat of the skillet to become popular in cool salads. A bit of oil keeps their texture slightly firm to the bite.

While fresh produce is abundant and easily available, try something new. Color, flavor and variety are waiting.

Use eggplant in a salad with tomatoes, red onion and celery. Small ones have fewer seeds and thinner skins, which reduces their cooking time. The skin should be glossy and uniformly colored. It is a dieter's dream at only 25 calories per one-half cup.

Eggplant is not strong in vitamins, but its skin is high in potassium, phosphorus, calcium and magnesium. Salting it in advance helps remove bitterness and allows it to absorb less oil if sautéing. Blanching it also draws out any bitterness.

Stir-fry has become a way of life for many families. Try a new slant by serving it as a warm salad on a bed of finely shredded, crisp cabbage. Cabbage is hardly a designer vegetable, but its reliability is always fashionable. It was as special to the Chinese during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900 B.C. as it was for centuries in northern Africa. Green, white and the sweeter savory varieties all measure less than 15 calories per cup, while red cabbage is slightly higher—all of 20 calories per cupful.

Chopping it by hand yields long, thin strands for slaw, as a base for a stir-fried salad or in a sweet-and-sour salad. Shredding it in a blender makes a ton of slaw in the flash of a wooden spoon, but it is fine in texture and compactly solid.

Broccoli's flowerets should be light at first stalks. Heavy, woody stalks should be avoided. To keep those tiny flowerets from maturing before the right dinner menu comes along, Bert Greene in "Greene on Greens" recommends placing the stems of an entire bunch—after roughly breaking off the stalks and removing the green leaves—in a 1- to 2-quart pitcher or wide-mouthed jar filled with ice water, then covering it with a loose plastic bag. This should keep it fresh about a week.

Broccoli should be cooked quickly so it holds its "bite." A relative of the cabbage, homegrown broccoli can be soaked a few minutes in salt water to remove any worms that may be hiding along the stalks.

Cheesy Chicken en Gelée

- 1 carrot, chopped
- 1 rib celery with leaves, chopped
- 1 onion, halved, each half stuck with one whole clove
- 1 lb. boned, skinned chicken breast
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup dry white wine or orange juice
- 1/4 cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 2 dashes pepper sauce
- 1 to 2 cups broccoli flowerets, cooked until tender-crisp, sliced
- 1 whole pimiento, sliced (optional)
- 8 pitted large black olives, sliced
- 4 oz. Jarlsberg cheese, shredded (1 cup) or cut in very thin strips
- 2 oz. (1/2 cup) dried apricots, minced

Simmer carrot, celery and onion in 2 cups water 10 minutes. Add chicken. Cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes, according to thickness, until done. Cool in the liquid. Strain, reserving stock.

Shred chicken

Shred chicken in wine about 3 minutes. Bring 1 cup reserved stock to boil. Add to gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Add orange juice concentrate and pepper sauce. Mix well.

Pour 1/2 cup gelatin mixture into 5-cup mold or loaf pan. Arrange broccoli, pimiento and olives in mold. Mix cheese and apricots. Layer shredded chicken, cheese mixture and any extra vegetables in the mold. Pour on remaining gelatin mixture. Refrigerate 3 hours or overnight.

Unmold on a mixture of radicchio and bibb lettuce or other seasonal greens. Serve with Sauce.

Sauce: Whisk together 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 tablespoon Dijon mustard. Gradually add 1/2 cup extra virgin olive oil and 1/2 cup water. Season with freshly ground pepper and salt, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

State's attorney discusses crime scenes with care givers here

A seminar updating emergency medical personnel on the legal approach to crime scenes and on understanding living wills was presented to prehospital care givers May 23 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"The seminar presented an overview of what a paramedic or other emergency personnel can or cannot do when he or she arrives at a crime scene," said Jill Pendegrass, I.C.N., emergency medical service system coordinator, Illinois Region IV-A.

Madison County State's Attorney William Haine explained to personnel the importance of not disturbing a crime scene.

"He explained how moving even an article of clothing at the scene can interrupt their investigation," Pendegrass said.

"He stressed the importance of getting in and getting the patient out and to the medical center without moving anything unnecessarily."

Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski also spoke to emergency personnel about situations involving living wills and what they can and cannot accept.

Rekowski said patients or their family members may present a living will to paramedics or other emergency personnel at the scene when life-sustaining mechanisms may be used.

"Basically, a living will needs to be written by the patient, physician and/or an attorney, and witnessed by two impartial individuals; and must be presented when the potential for life-sustaining mechanisms arises," Pendegrass said. "The patient must be prepared in advance."

Other speakers at the seminar included Master Sgt. Jim Hall, accident reconstruction specialist for the Illinois State Police; Sgt. Mark Johnson, senior crime scene analyst for the Illinois State Police; and Ralph Baahman, Madison County chief deputy coroner.

Journal's New England tour prime for fall 'leaf-peeping'

As summer turns to fall and the days get shorter, New England's rolling landscape slowly transforms into a fiery brilliance of reds, golds and oranges.

New England's six small states provide Journal Grand Tour members with prime territory for autumn "leaf-peeping." There are the mountains and picturesque villages of Vermont and New Hampshire, the rocky coast of Maine and Acadia National Park, the beaches of Cape Cod, the Adirondack Lakes of upstate New York, the yachting mecca of Newport, R.I., the lovely colonial towns of Connecticut and Boston, the spiritual capital of New England and Cradle of American Liberty.

Journal Grand Tour members stay at the finest hotels and dine in historic inns where the atmosphere and legend are tastefully combined with specialties of the area.

In addition to New England's magnificent, uncrowded beauty of French Canada is just a border hop away. An extra tour treat is an escort right from St. Louis and a night at the prestigious Waldorf Astoria in New York when a welcome aboard dinner is enjoyed at the magnificent Tavern On The Green restaurant in Central Park.

A wooded shoreline in New England.

Alec Baldwin learns about love in new 'Prelude to a Kiss'

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

These days, Alec Baldwin gets most of his publicity over his live-in love affair with the pouty movie siren Kim Basinger. Basinger has lived in New York City with Baldwin for more than a year. The two met while filming the ill-fated Disney picture, "The Marrying Man," released in 1991.

Baldwin has not, however, been without his own activities of note, even though they are more career-oriented than Basinger's headline-grabbing public outbursts against directors and studios.

The 34-year-old native of Amityville, N.Y., was nominated for a Tony Award this year for his work in the current revival of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire." The eclectic actor, who has played everything from a CIA analyst in "The Hunt for Red October" to a Bible-thumping evangelist in "Great Balls of Fire," takes on a role in "Prelude to a Kiss," his latest movie, that is another first for him.

Baldwin plays a young man who is head-over-heart in love with a free-spirited young woman who has trouble finishing what she starts. The girl, played by Meg Ryan, beguiles Baldwin's character to the point that he impulsively proposes. It is at their marriage ceremony that a kiss—from a stranger—begins a course of events that puts their love to the ultimate test.

"When you love someone, what is it that you love?" Baldwin asks. "My character, Peter, is given this tremendous test to really show how much he's in love. A lot of what he is faced with in this story is what he would eventually face with his wife in years to come."

He's given this very advanced sneak preview of what life is really about, says Ryan, says her character is an exact opposite of Baldwin's.

The question we, kept addressing in rehearsals," Ryan says, "was why Peter is the perfect person for all this to happen to, and why my character is the perfect person for this to happen to. They're polar opposites of each other in their desire to live life.

"He desperately wants to, and she would rather skip all the hard parts," she says, "because it's too scary to do any other way. What she learns in the course of the movie is that that's a very sad, limiting philosophy."

Baldwin starred in the original New York stage production of "Prelude To A Kiss" during a standing-room-only, six-week engagement at the Circle-In-The-Square theater. He stayed with the show when it moved to a larger theater on Broadway.

"There's a scene in the play," Baldwin says, "that I had with Bernard Hughes, that got to the audience every single night. There were times when we could actually hear the audience choking up and crying at the point in which I reaffirm my love for my wife. It really got to me, too."

"I'll never forget that moment in the show as long as I live."

Although the play is set in New York City, the film version of "Prelude To A Kiss" was shot in Chicago because of a film strike on the East Coast that caused all film productions to stop there.

were shot in two suburbs of Chicago, Highland Park and Berwyn.
